Harry Loebel Takes G. L. Chamber Reins

SCHOOL PLANS NEAR APPROVAL

Detailed sketches of the kind asked by the School Building Assistance Commission are in the hands of William Black and the chairman of the local building committee said Wednesday that his group is ready for what should be the pre-approval meeting on the new high school Monday. If the plans clear Black as expected, they will be submitted for SBAC approval Tuesday when that group meets.

Harry A. Loebel, Raytheon Co.'s Andover plant manager, took over Wednesday as president of the Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce, addressing an estimated 800 business and civic leaders at the 78th annual dinner. The Andover Chamber of Commerce is affiliated with this co-operative organization and mar. of it members, as well as local governmental officials, attended the banquet at Phillips Academy.

HARRY A. LOEBEL

Reporting on chamber plans for the next 12 months, Loebel said the group will work with 104 projects to "produce a better climate . . . attempt to accelerate urban redevelopment, . . . vitalize the Industrial Bureau, (and) continue to foster the dynamic Retail Trade Board and Downtown Task Force as the vital commercial element of our community."

Pin-pointing specific projects, the president said the CC will continue with its head-start program, the Prep Club for high school students nearing graduation and employment. It will interest itself in redevelopment projects in Lawrence, seeking close association with the Lawrence Redevelopment Authority, work for improved downtown parking conditions and through its legislative committee, for improved understanding between state legislators and business and industry.

FM Station Dedication At Phillips

Phillips Academy will dedicate its new student-operated FM radio station at 6:30 p.m. Friday with a taped show featuring top news and entertainment personalities.

Equipment for the station, an educational, non-commercial venture, was a gift to the school from Robert W. Sarnoff, chairman of the board for the National Broadcasting Co. and a Phillips graduate, class of 1935. He, as president of the Alumni Council, will be in Andover at the time of the dedication attending a two-day meeting of the school's trustees.

It was Sarnoff who arranged for the tape and for the services of News Commentator David Brinkley of NBC as narrator. Also on the show, Sammy Davis Jr. singing "My Kind of School" based on the tune, "My Kind of Town," Orchestra Leader Skitch Henderson, and comedians Bob Hope, Jack Lemmon, Bill Crosby and Don Adams.

Local dignitaries on the program will include Phillips' Headmaster John Kemper and Philip K. Allen, chairman of the Board of Selectmen.

Students began broadcasting March 31 and are currently on the air 25 hours a week at 91.7 on the

Opinion Survey Taken On Classification Plan

Circulating in Town Hall this week were copies of a questionnaire distributed by the Town Employees Assoc. for an opinion survey on the Jacobs Report, the controversial classification and pay plan adopted earlier this month.

Responses, due Tuesday, were to be addressed to Atty. Irving L. Newman, recently retained as counsel for the employee group. The association said that Wednesday all replies would be turned over to an "independent committee of citizens who are in no way connected with the Town Government." None was named.

Stating that an analysis and summary of employee answers would be reported to the community, the association said the identity of each person quizzed would be known only to Atty. Newman.

At presstime there was no indication of what response had been to the query though some Town Hall employees questioned said they had not been given copies. Atty. Newman could not be reached for a report.

Questions asked in the survey were as follows:

1. Were you interviewed by a representative of the Jacobs Co.? If the answer is yes, how long was the interview and what was asked of you?

2. Have you read the Jacobs Report?

3. Do you believe that you have the right as a taxpayer to read the report?

Williams Denies Fin Com Rumors

Town Moderator Arthur Williams was non-committal Wednesday on his plans for appointment of members to the Finance Committee, but he denied the rumor that he would dump all present members to name a group weighted with pre-manager town officials.

The Massachusetts legislator said that he has been pre-occupied with state legislation and has not yet found time to sit down with a list of those he wants to consider before naming the Fin Com. Appointments to most other boards and committees were completed earlier this month.

He did say, however, that he would definitely re-appoint "somebody" but felt it would be premature to be more specific. Present Fin Com members are (Continued on Page 12)

The Case of the Obstinate Shareholder

We love our shareholders. Like other business corporations, we couldn't exist without them. But unlike other businesses, our chief function is not to serve them as stockholders, but as consumers. That is why, when our shareholders move away, we prefer to have them cash in their shares.

And thereby hangs a tale. Some years ago, one of our most loyal members moved to the Pacific area without leaving a forwarding address to which we could mail dividends.

We caught up to him recently and suggested that he turn in his shares of stock. He told us that he was reluctant to do that because those shares stood for something more precious than cash value. To him they symbolized a tie and a root to a community which he loved in absentia.

That's the way it is with some of our members. They like the idea of belonging to a society which is an intimate and integral part of their lives and of the community in which they live—a society which adds dignity to their daily existence.

Educator Team Ready To Evaluate J. High

Today a 26-educator evaluation team will wind up a three-day study of Andover Junior High School and prepare to make a report within six weeks on how well it thinks AHS is living up to its stated philosophy, objectives and functions.

For guidelines the team has had standards established in a two-year self-evaluation conducted at the local school by Principal William E. Hart, his staff and faculty.

Heading the team is James M. Peebles, principal of Wellesley Junior High School. The evaluation, made at Hart's request, is co-sponsored by the Massachusetts Department of Education and the Massachusetts Junior High School Principals Assoc.

Hart said Tuesday that this sort of probe is required for high schools if they are to be accredited by the New England Association for Secondary School Accreditation, but that AJHS is the first three year junior high to undergo this type of evaluation.

"I think eventually - in 10 years or so - there will be accreditation for junior high schools," Hart said, adding "We wanted to be one of the front runners."

During the three day study, evaluators looked into every phase of school activity, sitting in on classes, talking with students and conferring with the staff.

The committee will determine for one thing, how well junior high school educators are living up to 25 stated objectives which include such items as: To provide pupils with a motive or an impulse to learn; To make out methods to help develop the mind, the personality and the character of pupils; To provide within the school special instruction for those with a talent for abstraction, articulateness and the pursuit of ideas in books; To recognize we can not make intellectuals out of all pupils; that many have the good sense to know they need vocational training.

Town Eyes Rainfall And Sub-Normal Pond

What happens to Haggett's Pond within the next two or three weeks will tell the story, Water Supt. Donald C. Bassett said this week.

The story he has in mind will be one of plenty or of water restrictions, depending upon the total of spring rainfall.

With the pond about three feet under its normal level for this time of year, Bassett describes the situation as "serious but not desperate."

If a hot, dry summer should force water restrictions, they would not be drastic initially, Bassett said. The first step would be to curb waste, and perhaps restrict sprinkling to late evening hours in an attempt to keep water pressures adequate for fire protection. Tighter controls would be necessary only if the drought is intensified, the superintendent feels.

Bassett said the pond has come up more than three inches this month, but he pointed out also that residents are currently consuming water at the rate of about 2.2 million gallons per day. The average daily consumption in 1964 was 2,580,000 gallons.

The superintendent pointed out that commercial users are not the big water consumers in Andover. Raytheon, for example, controls its demands on the town supply by drawing from the Shawsheen for other than human use. It is the town's 20,000 and some residents that drink into the reserve and consumption jumps annually with increased home construction, he said.

Garden Club Lunch May 4

Committee chairmen will review their favorite gardening books for the luncheon crowd attending the Andover Garden Club's annual meeting Tuesday.

The business session will begin at 10:30 a.m. and include the reviews.

At 11:30 a.m. there will be a social hour when members are to view a vignette flower show, "Spring's Palette", presented by the flower arrangement workshop.

Chamber Group Plans Concert

The Chamber Singers, a non-professional singing group with 10 years experience together, will present a concert at 8:45 p.m. Sunday at Phillips Academy's Addison Gallery.

Singing without a conductor, the group will do a program of Hindemith "Chansons" based on poems by Rilke and a set of Brahms solo quartets with piano.

Three Andover singers are in the organization, Robert Lloyd, an architect who teaches design at the academy, is bass and his wife, Sue, sings alto. The third is Crayton Bedford, PA math teacher.

Avid singers since they met as members of the Harvard and Radcliffe Glee Club, the eight have stayed together out of sheer love for the opportunity to express themselves, first through Renaissance tunes and more recently through the programming of modern and romantic music.

They usually sing unaccompanied, as a string quartet plays, according to Sue Lloyd's description. They have resisted opportunities to appear as professionals, preferring to remain anonymous and more or less "choose (our) own audiences."

The choral group's first appearance was made at Harvard chapel and their reputation has spread by word of mouth until they now usually give three or four concerts a year. They have sung at Fogg Museum, Putney School and Phillips Exeter Academy.

Florence St. Trial Ended

The trial on the mandamus petition in the Florence St. case is completed and Judge George E. Thompson, Superior Civil Court, has taken it under advisement.

The suit was brought by Florence street residents against the town and town officials held responsible for the granting of a building permit to Arthur A. Collins and Robert E. Wilson, now of Orange, Calif. for construction of an office building on a disputed piece of land. The petitioners want action taken rezoning the lot for business at a special Town Meeting in June, 1964 declared invalid. Suing are Arthur L. Coleman, John H. Grecoe, Ann J. Zalla, Elizabeth R. Sweeney and John F. Barton, a party petitioner.

Collins and Wilson intervened to become party respondents to the suit against the Board of Selectmen Philip K. Allen, Paul W. Cronin, Roger Collins, William Stewart and Robert Waters, and Arthur Peatman, building inspector.

Elks Sponsors Essay Contest

Seventh and eighth graders from Andover and two neighboring communities are eligible to compete in an essay contest sponsored by Andover Lodge B.P.O.E. in cooperation with the state Elks Assoc.

"Our American Flag - In the Changing World" is to be the title of entries. Top local winners will receive war bonds and a chance at the state prize.

Judges for the Andover contest will be William F. Towne, president of the Haverhill Junior Chamber of Commerce; Paul W. Cronin, Andover Board of Selectmen; and Vincent P. Davey, former member of the local School Committee.

"Way back in 1789 the most outstanding physician of his day was Benjamin Rush who was one of the last leaders of a medicine not yet graduated from the medieval tradition.

For example, Rush maintained that there was but one disease and all treatments were to be reduced to one as well. These treatments were rather harrowing by today's standards, consisting in the main of blood-letting and purging, intended to cure the unfortunate patient's physical ills through "depletion".

Many of today's ills are cured quickly and safely through use of prescriptions prescribed by the modern physicians. For the filling of these prescriptions, depend on the pharmacy where prescriptions are a specialty, not a sideline. Try SHAWSHEEN PHARMACY, Shawshen Square, Andover.

39 Teenagers Tour New York

Thirty-nine Andover students, including AFS Student Luis Gorostaga of Paraguay, were in New York during spring vacation for a United Nations-New York City tour sponsored by the American Field Service Club of Andover High School.

On hand to greet the group was Manuel Perez, leading member of the Paraguayan delegation to the UN. The Paraguayan ambassador permitted a question and answer session, commenting afterward that only the girls asked questions and that in his country it would have been the reverse.

After the United Nations tour, the group visited AFS headquarters and went on a bus excursion. Mrs. Harold Stanley and Joseph Tardif, AFS advisor and tour coordinator were chaperones.

Thirty residents rode an Andover Citizens for Equal Opportunity bus to Boston Friday for the March on Boston held in connection with Rev. Martin Luther King's visit there on behalf of the Hub's Civil Rights movement.

Also on hand to observe were 12 Phillips Academy students and two faculty members.

Most of those riding the ACEO bus were individuals rather than representatives of groups though four Brooks Schools boys and two South Church Pilgrim Fellowship members were aboard.

The bus was short of its 40 capacity, but reservations had been taken for the full number, Mrs. Frederick Pease, one of the marchers, said Wednesday.

Comments from marchers joining the some 15,000 in the march to the Boston Common indicate that they were impressed by the sobriety and orderliness of the throng.

Little League Dance May 14

Andover Leagues will sponsor their eighth annual "Get Acquainted Dance", Friday, May 14 at Andover Country Club.

This is the only fund raising project the Leagues have each year and all proceeds are for support of the Little League. Reservations may be made with the chairman, Mrs. R. Wayne Long, or with any member of the committee.

The committee includes Mrs. Kenneth Jones, Mrs. Warren Knipe, Mrs. Charles Winters, Mrs. Donald Clough, Mrs. Ross Yelter, Mrs. Raymond Furey, Mrs. Frederick Nowell, Mrs. Joseph Medici and Mrs. Edward Romeo.

Library Week

Observance of National Library Week continues through May 7 with special exhibits of travel posters, new books, and booklists prepared by the adult and young adult departments. An exhibit of books on children's reading and selected books for the younger set is also continuing through next week.

A collection of pamphlets and school catalogs of interest to high school graduates and college graduates who plan to take further work is on display as part of the week. Featured are the various ways in which a librarian may use his skills acquired at graduate school. Accredited library schools and their curriculums round out the display.

Travel Talks

Two travel-and-slide talks by well known Andover travelers are being scheduled at the library in observance of National Library Week. Tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock Mr. Francis B. McCarthy will show slides and speak on "Sicily: 3,000 years of tragic history and enduring beauty," in Memorial Hall. The public is invited to share the three months which the McCarthys spent in Sicily during a recent winter and spring. For the past year Mr. McCarthy has taken charge of the adult education program, "Color Abroad" at Phillips Andover Academy. He is instructor in English and the history of philosophy at the Academy.

The second travel program is also on a Friday evening - May 7 - at 8 o'clock. The Frederick W. Bradleys will show slides of their 13-week trip to Europe last summer. With their two children, Mr. and Mrs. Bradley covered 18 countries, some of them behind the Iron Curtain, and toured 18,000 miles. They plan to show representative slides and discuss their trip in "Europe, 1964 - Highlights and Sidelights."

There is no admission charge for either travel program, so come and bring your friends.

Record Day

By 9 o'clock Tuesday evening, April 20 the library had charged out to borrowers 1,077 books, pictures, records, magazines and pamphlets; 701 of these were borrowed from the Adult department serving young adults as well as their parents. The remainder were taken from the children's room. This is the largest borrowing day in the history of the library. Asked what the most wanted subject was, Mrs. Ruth Berthold, library assistant said, "Not any one subject, but some of the borrowers were college students apparently home on vacation. A good many magazines were wanted. The books were of every type."

Littlest Listeners

The season's activities for the Littlest Listener groups come to an end with the May meetings scheduled for each. On May 4, the Squirrels will have their year-end program at ten o'clock in the Children's room. Litter War Is Expanded Andover's Police Dept. has always had a net out for violators of litter laws, but now Manager Richard Bowen has asked Chief David Nicoll to really push for letter-of-the-law enforcement.

Legal is not only the expected fine, but litterbugs can also be deprived of driving licenses and auto registrations.

Bowen said it is costing the town money to pick up the debris of the careless.

•The Board of Appeals will hold its hearing the second Thursday of the month in May and June instead of the first Thursday as regularly scheduled.

•The town has ordered a $29,650 diesel fire engine, selecting it, said Manager Richard Bowen because the engine is more efficient when operated for long periods, there are fewer working parts and the fuel is cheaper.

•Retirement allowances paid to former state and local employees in Massachusetts will reach $110 million this year, according to the prediction of the Federation of Taxpayers Associations. Almost $100,576,000 was paid out for such purposes in 1963, $89,841,000 of it financed with tax dollars.

•Dr. Louis Galbiati of the School Committee has requested that school officials check into the desirability of giving measles shots to Andover students and that diabetes tests be given. The Townsman incorrectly reported last week that Dr. Galbiati had made an outright proposal that measles shots be given in the schools here.

•Phillips Academy Trustees will begin their annual spring meeting at the local campus tonight and continue through Saturday.

•Selectman Robert Watters has asked for installation of a stop sign at the Salem St.-Woodland Rd. intersection where a traffic accident occurred April 18. Approval must be sought from the state Department of Public Works.

•Manager Richard Bowen has proposed that the Selectmen double liquor license fees to boost income to $16,000 a year. Local licenses range from $100 to $500 while in Lawrence rates are from $500 to $1,500, he said. The package store pays the minimum fee, and innkeepers are at the top of the heap. The Board is thinking it over.

Punchard Grads Seek Classmates

The Senior Pilgrim Fellowship of Free Christian Church, during the spring school vacation, exchanged work projects and fellowship with the young people of St. Ann's Episcopal Church, Dorchester.

Thursday six PF members went to St. Ann's to help with cleaning up three yards and painting a house.

Sharing a supper which they cooked, the young people then went to sing freedom songs at a meeting of the Boston Tenants' Assoc. After the night at St. Ann's parish house, the Andover PF'ers brought teens from the Dorchester parish to Andover for an evening of dancing and singing before an overnight stay in local homes.

On Saturday both groups worked to clean up Camp Maude Eaton. The day ended with a lively softball game and a picnic.

EXHIBITING IN COLLABORATION with two other Phillips Academy faculty members at the "New England Art Today" show at Northeastern University through May 8 is Gerald Shortzer, 3 Highland Wayside. He is one of 90 painters and sculptors to display their works at the second biennial show, sponsored by the New England Contemporary Artists.

Three From Phillips Exhibit In Art Show

Three members of the Phillips Academy faculty will exhibit their life-size sculpture called an "environment" at Northeastern University's "New England Art Today" through May 8.

The exhibition, entitled "New England Art Today," is the second biennial show at Northeastern sponsored by New England Contemporary Artists.

Andover exhibitors are Christopher Cook, Philip Perkins, and Gerald Shortzer. Their environment is a four-sided, covered empty plywood cube, each wall of which is about eight feet wide. To view it, spectators must look inside a peephole to see certain objects, comprising a life-size scene without human images.

Cook, a Boston native who attended the Newton public schools, is a teacher at the University of New Hampshire. Granted a year's leave of absence, Cook is teaching at the Academy and serves also as assistant director of the Addison Gallery.

An exhibitor in many shows, Cook won the Yankee Magazine award in 1962 at the annual exhibit of the New Hampshire Art Association.

Shortzer has taught sculpture and drawing at the Academy since 1958. Represented in the Addison Gallery and private collections, he has traveled through South America under the State Department's Cultural Exchange Program. He has a master's in fine arts from Yale and has exhibited in many shows in New England and New York.

Perkins, formerly of Brookline, is teaching at the Academy under a Wingate Paine Photographic Fellowship, established by his New York employer.

"New England Art Today" will be held at N.U.'s Cabot Physical Education Center, 360 Huntington Avenue, Boston. It will open free to the public Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., and Saturday and Sunday, 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Why Gamble?

What goes up must come down. But nature has proved with her dumping of torrential rains in parts of the country already saturated with winter's snow that this is an axiom she need not apply with man's logic.

The old girl is fickle. She may yet come through with enough gentle spring rain to push Haggetts' Pond to the brim, but now, while this natural reservoir is three feet lower than is normal for April, is the time to talk about short-term conservation.

Andover faces a long-term water problem about which she has been amply warned by town officials, now at work planning a project that should forestall the inevitable use of the Merrimack for a comfortable period. There is need for immediate concern, however, about the possibility of a long, hot, water-consuming summer.

The pond is not at a critical level, but it can get that way if nature's relief proves inadequate. Right now it is taking close to an average of 2.50 million gallons of water a day to meet the needs of our more than 20,000 inhabitants. We go easy on it in winter, and put little strain on the supply up through April. But from May on we are lavish water spenders, and herein lies the danger.

When, on a breezeless, muggy day, water use peaks at more than five million gallons, as it did one day last summer, the problem of water becomes one of pressure. We are not going to run out of water for drinking and eating and bathing, but we can drain wells and the pond to a point that they would be incapable of supplying the push needed to wet down a roaring fire. This is a fact, not a remote possibility, and one that warrants some individual conservation action.

Prudent use of our conveniences could multiply to make the difference between the need for water restrictions and water freedom this summer. The superintendent in charge thinks so. It isn't the water we drink, but what runs down the drain while we clear the pipes to get a cool one, that bothers him. It isn't the sprinkler that greens the grass, but the one that sprays the asphalt and rushes rivulets into the catch basin that he regards with a wary eye. And it is the ill-timed, concentrated use of big water consuming equipment (particularly through the late afternoon and early evening) that ruins the pressure.

If, in the coming weeks, we can flip faucets to run garbage disposals and washers and showers and sprinklers with some forethought about when and how much, we can accumulate gallons of prevention. Nature may also cooperate, but why gamble?

Down the Years with The Townsman

75 Years Ago — April, 1890

The Selectmen have decided to grant no druggists' licenses this year, as has been done formerly.

There are more water takers in Ballardvale in proportion to its size than in Andover. The Ballardvale mills are having it put into over forty houses and private takers are many.

John Smith and Mrs. William Clark were in New York this week to see a sister who was about to return to Scotland.

Brainerd Cummings is to build a house for Mrs. Noyes on Elm St.

The notice of the Board of Health in another column takes away what has been a principal feature of a summer excursion to Haggetts' Pond. Nevertheless, inasmuch as a man washes himself because he is not clean, and as the water at Haggetts' must not be polluted, we suppose the Board of Health must see to it that the law is enforced, and henceforth there must be no paddling among summer picnickers at this favorite resort.

This from an exchange is well suited to the Townsman also: Send us the news. When anybody dies, gets married, runs away, steals anything, builds a house, makes a big sale, breaks his leg . . . or does anything remarkable, and you know about it as much as anybody else, don't wait for anybody to report it or trust to our instinct to find it out, but come and tell us or send a postal card. Quick, brief, accurate! There is nothing like enterprise.

50 Years Ago — April, 1915

The annual May Breakfast under the auspices of General William T. Barrett's Relief Corps, 111th Anniversary, will be held at the town hall, 111th Anniversary, May 1, 1915.

5:30 to 8:30. Last year over 1000 were breakfasted and preparations are being made to entertain an even greater number this year.

While Andover is giving some attention to clean-up work, the officials of the town might take some notice of conditions on Essex St. made almost unbearable some days when the wind is high because of the manner of disposal of rubbish in connection with the lunch cart located on that street.

The oil wagons about town are making longer trips than they did a year ago, and this will be noted with considerable satisfaction by most citizens. Andover has been rather slow in coming to the general use of oil on the highways, but the results last year made it very clear that the roads are kept in much better repair if properly oiled through the summer.

Interest in canoeing on the Shawsheen River still continues and there will be a number of new canoes on the river this year. All summer camps and bungalows on the Shawsheen have been engaged and the season promises to be the most successful one yet. As is well known, the beauties of the Shawsheen are unexcelled by any river in this vicinity.

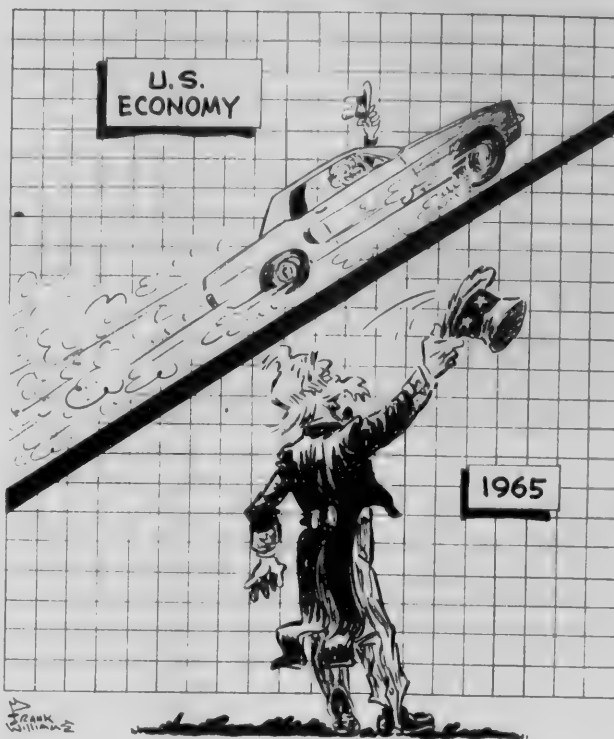

25 Years Ago — April, 1940

Saturday Abbot Academy will hold festivities in honor of its 111th Anniversary.

Only 198 out of Andover's more than 6,000 registered voters went to the polls Tuesday for the presidential primaries, but the per vote cost to Andover was not so great as was the case in many of the towns. The local officials forecast a tight vote and opened the polls at 10 a. m., saving $300.

ON THE GO!

Three Scholarship Plans Offered By Commonwealth

Application forms for the various types of scholarships offered by the Commonwealth are now available at all secondary schools, accredited colleges, universities and nursing schools in the state according to the Massachusetts Scholarship Boards.

Students who wish to be considered for 1965-66 scholarship aid must have their application in to the boards by May 15.

Three types of programs are available which offer financial assistance in the form of grants to needy and academically worthy students, domiciled in Massachusetts.

The Board of Educational Assistance helps students who plan to attend, or who are currently enrolled in an accredited undergraduate college from Freshman year through Senior Commencement. Students just entering such colleges must have taken the College Entrance Examination Board test (S.A.T.) and must have been accepted by the college of their choice. Upperclassmen must be in acceptable academic standing. This Board also assists students who have completed their undergraduate studies and are working for Masters or Ph.D. degrees. Students enrolled at the University of Massachusetts should contact the Director of Financial Aid for assistance, since this Board is not authorized to help them.

This board was created by the Massachusetts Legislature in 1958 and awards have been granted every year since then. For the academic year 1964-1965, scholarships totaling $400,000 were awarded to 1,530 students. These awards are renewable for no more than four years.

In 1963, the Massachusetts Legislature created an additional scholarship program which authorizes the board to grant $300 per year to an undergraduate student who is planning to teach mentally retarded children.

Such students may attend any accredited college offering a special education curriculum except the State College at Fitchburg. Students enrolled in the special education curriculum at that college should contact the director of financial aid concerning financial assistance. Massachusetts colleges which offer a special education curriculum are: Anna Maria College, Paxton; Boston College, Boston; Boston University, Boston and Lesley College, Cambridge. Application forms for the special education scholarships are identical with the regular award applications distributed by the Board of Educational Assistance. During the academic year 1964-1965, thirteen such awards were granted and additional ones are planned for the coming year.

The third type of scholarship offered by the Commonwealth is made available through the medical, dental and nursing scholarship board. This board helps students in the fields of medicine, dentistry and nursing. Medical and dental students must be enrolled in accredited graduate schools. Pre-medical, pre-dental students as well as students in the fields of medical, dental and X-Ray technology should apply to the Board of Educational Assistance. Nursing students may be enrolled in either the three or four-year nursing programs. Students enrolled in the nursing program at the University of Massachusetts should contact the director of financial aid for assistance. All freshman applicants must have taken one of the respective entrance examinations, and they must have been accepted by the institution of their choice. Applicants for these grants must have been domiciled in Massachusetts at least four years prior to the acceptance of an award.

The Medical, Dental and Nursing Scholarship Board was created by the Massachusetts Legislature in 1958 and awards have been granted every year since then. For the academic year 1964-1965, scholarships totaling $150,000 were granted to 275 medical and dental students and to almost four hundred nursing students. These awards are renewable for no more than five years.

The application forms for all the above described scholarship programs are now available through the principals and guidance offices of the secondary schools, the financial aid offices at the colleges, universities, and the nursing directors' offices at the schools of nursing. Students enrolled in out-of-state institutions should contact the Massachusetts Scholarship Boards, 200 Newbury St., Boston, Mass. 02116, to obtain forms. Institutions in need of such forms may order these at the same address. To be considered, the completed applications must be submitted to the Scholarship Boards prior to May 15. Successful applicants will be informed of their awards during the month of August.

School Board Changes Pay Schedule Policy

The School Committee voted Tuesday to eliminate sub-committee action in future preparations of salary schedules and put the responsibility for development and recommendation of a pay plan upon Supt. Edward I. Erickson.

Adopted as policy was a statement prepared by Committee-woman Barbara Moody which proposed such a change in procedure. Mrs. Moody was a member of the sub-committee which prepared a schedule adopted earlier this year over the protests of teachers and in conflict with the superintendent's request for a $500 across the board increase.

The Committee also approved another Moody suggestion, and will go on record with the state legislature as favoring legislation to provide communities with a greater contribution from state funds for education. The vote was not in support of any one of the three money bills now pending because Mrs. Moody said she expects a compromise measure to be drafted and felt it was better not to tie approval to one specific measure. The Committee did, however, vote to notify the legislature that it opposed Section 68 of H. 3354 which they see as a restriction upon the fiscal independence of school committees.

Supt. Erickson reportedly favorably on the provisions of Senate Bill 104 which incorporates proposals of the Massachusetts Education Conference Board and gave blank petitions to members of the committee and visiting representatives of the League of Women Voters and Taxpayers Assoc., hopefully for circulation.

At the lengthy session, the Committee also put itself on record as being ready to supply funds for the addition of either Spanish or German or both to the language program in September if a present survey indicates sufficient student interest.

There to report on high school programs, Principal Philip Wormwood said that a ninth-grade poll, one-third completed shows that 15 students are interested in Spanish and seven in German. Twelve 10th grade students would like Spanish as a second language, and one, German. The survey for this class is complete, Wormwood said.

The principal is to report back by the end of the school year both on the survey results and his final thinking about immediate addition of one or two more languages to the curriculum. He indicated at the meeting that he did not favor starting two such courses in one year.

It came out in a discussion of plans for handling sixty additional students at the high school next fall that school administrators have all but agreed to add one-half hour to the secondary school schedule effective with the fall term. Supt. Erickson said this move would be finalized in an administrator's meeting Friday.

Members of the committee went over the advantages and disadvantages of using this added time to lengthen the classroom period (which the administrators favor) as opposed to the creation of an extra period which some felt would permit more flexibility in scheduling and cut down on the need for compacting - creating larger classes to compensate for the lack of space to conduct sessions of the recommended size.

Accepted were the following resignations: Frances Niebergall, art teacher; Mary Silke, art teacher; Leonore Labounty, West School; Joan Pollock, Junior High School; and Rosemary Harrington, South School.

Members extended Music Director's leave of absence to the end of the school year. It was to have expired May 1.

Reservations Due For Tour

Tomorrow is the final day for reservations for a Museum of Fine Arts "Walk Through the American Period Rooms", planned for Greater Lawrence women by the Boston Museum.

Women interested in the free tour on May 7 should contact the membership office at the Museum, Boston.

The period rooms display a part of the Museum's collection of American arts in a series of carefully reconstructed interiors. The tour is to acquaint people with the Museum and its membership activities.

Music Theme For Exhibit

"Andover and Music" is the topic chosen for the spring exhibition of the Andover Historical Society, scheduled to open May 5 at Amos Blanchard House, 97 Main St.

The emphasis of the exhibition will be on Andover's musical past with early musical instruments, early hymnals used in local Churches, concert programs and other memorabilia on display. Featured also will be outstanding musical personalities and organizations active today. Articles from the Society's own collections will be shown, as well as others loaned especially for the exhibition.

The exhibition will be open without charge for three weeks, May 5-26, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 2 to 4 p.m.

ARE YOUR CLOTHES getting the fourth inspection?

The fact that clothes have been freshly cleaned, smoothly pressed and repaired where necessary is still not good enough to satisfy us at Anton's. We give each garment a final check which makes absolutely sure that spots and stains have vanished into nothingness, that belts and buttons are in place and that minor repairs have been made.

Our final inspection is actually our fourth inspection. It assures you that such annoyances as surface lint, double creases, puckered seams, shine, pocket marks, etc. are not to be seen. This inspection makes sure fabric nap and colors, newness and freshness are fully revived. This then is the "moment of truth" in our commitment to cleanliness.

If, after trying Anton's once, you cannot enthusiastically say that your Anton-cleaned clothes were not returned to you in a more spotless, immaculate, more sanitary condition than ever before in your experience at any price, we will refund the full price you have paid without question! You will be the sole judge that we have lived up to every promise we made in this advertisement.
